

FIRST DEGREE MURDER IS CHARGED

NET TIGHTENS AROUND WOMEN IN KABER CASE

Mrs. Erminia Colavito Held By Cleveland Police.

IMPPLICATES OTHERS

Woman Makes Detailed Statement Concerning Crime.

Cleveland, O., June 13.—Mrs. Erminia (Emma) Colavito, alleged procurer of the actual murderers of Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher, was indicted upon a charge of first degree murder by the grand jury at noon today. She is the fourth woman to be formally charged with the crime.

Mrs. Colavito's indictment followed fast upon the statement made by her early this morning when she confessed her part in the plot which resulted in the murder.

When the grand jury convened this morning, Prosecutor Stanton presented to them the signed statement made by the Italian woman, in which she admitted that arrangements for Kaber's murder had been made in her presence between the principal defendant and "Frank," identified by her as a "friend."

Other indictments are expected within the next day or so, Prosecutor Stanton said.

Mrs. Eva Catherine Kaber and her daughter, Marion McArdle, spent the forenoon quietly resting in the women's department of the county jail. The young woman was entirely unaware of the damaging charges made against her by Mrs. Colavito, in which she is charged with having been a co-principal in the murder plot, rather than the unwilling instrument of a wife's hatred.

Late in the afternoon, Prosecutor Stanton plans to call the principals again before him for further questioning, and it is upon the result of this grilling that further immediate grand jury action will depend.

Cleveland, June 13.—A charge of murder in the first degree was made early this morning against Mrs. Erminia (Emma) Colavito, of Cleveland, in connection with the murder of Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood publisher, for whose death July 18, 1919, his wife, mother-in-law and step daughter are already under indictment and arrest.

Mrs. Colavita is the woman arrested in Sandusky early last Wednesday morning and brought back here by Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton, chief of police Frank W. Smith and a detective squad.

The formal charge, which was made by Chief of Police Peter S. Christensen, of Lakewood, followed a detailed statement made by the woman in which she further implicated Mrs. Kaber, and her daughter Marian.

She declared in this statement that the assassins visited the Kaber home in Lakewood previous to the actual killing to get the lay of the land and that Marian, in order to keep their visit secret from the invalid, played loudly on the family piano.

Mrs. Kaber, according to Mrs. Colavito's statement balked at paying the price wanted by the assassins, $5,000, for the crime, unless it could be done in such a manner as to permit her to collect on an accident insurance policy which Kaber carried.

The accused also detailed how a pitcher of water was to be spilled from an upstairs window on the night of the murder as a signal that the coast was clear.

Other developments yesterday were the ending of the "hunger strike" on the part of Mrs. Kaber and Marian and the making of a statement by Mrs. Ethel Berman, volunteer Pinkerton operative, who trailed Mrs. Kaber when she left Cleveland following her husband's murder.

ASSISTANT CHIEF OF AIR SERVICE IS UNDER FIRE

Brigadier-General William Mitchell, Assistant Chief of the U. S. Air Service, whom Major-General Charles Meecher desires to relieve of his command. Although General Meecher has submitted in writing to the War Secretary his reasons for asking the removal of General Mitchell, Secretary Weeks did not make them public. General Mitchell is a staunch advocate of a united air service and has been foremost in the movement of those army air pilots who argue that naval battleships will be rendered obsolete through the employment of aircraft and submarines.

GREECE BEGINS ACTION AGAINST ARMY OF TURKS

Greek Fleet Concentrated In Turkish Waters.

London, June 13.—Greece is opening hostilities against the Turkish nationalists in Asia Minor by land and sea. Already the Greek fleet has been concentrated at full war strength in Turkish waters and has bombarded Turkish positions and sunk several small transports, according to information from Constantinople today.

King Constantine of Greece, who left Athens Saturday night, has arrived at Smyrna and will immediately place himself at the head of the Greek army for a new offensive against the Turk.

A Greek cruiser bombarded Kemalist (Turkish nationalist) batteries on the Black Sea coast, near Trebizond, the Turkish navy replied, and an artillery duel ensued. The town was set on fire.

Two steamships that had been transporting munitions for the Turkish nationalists were shelled by the Greek destroyer Panther, with 4-inch guns. A flotilla entered the harbor of Bantam and sunk several small vessels.

An Athens dispatch said that Constantine issued the following message to the Greek nation before his departure: "I place my confidence of victory upon the protection of the Divine and on the heroic enthusiasm of the army and on the unconquerable force of the Hellenic ideal."

British men of war have taken up positions on both sides of Constantinople. According to late reports, heavy forces of Turkish nationalist troops were moving northward in Anatolia in the direction of Constantinople.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH MEXICO PRACTICALLY AT A STANDSTILL

Washington, June 13.—Negotiations between the United States and Mexico, relative to recognition of the Obregon government, are practically at a standstill, it was learned at the state department today.

Administration officials are convinced that there is a division of opinion among Mexican officials themselves as to article 27 of the Mexican constitution which the United States maintains is confiscatory. This article reserves for the Mexican government control of sub surface products. Speeches in the Mexican congress and newspaper editorials indicate that Mexican leaders are at odds as to the article and whether it is confiscatory and what steps may be taken to change it to meet the views of the United States. Officials here are of the opinion that as long as the differences exist, that this government cannot hope for a speedy settlement of the Mexican situation.

Nothing To Say Avers Sims Who Says He's Misquoted

Admiral Retires Into Silence Following Receipt of Word From Denby Ordering Him Home—London Times Asked For Correction.

London, June 13.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., who has been recalled by Secretary of the Navy Denby, because of his sensational public utterances here has retired into silence and will say nothing more, the Daily Mail announced today.

Admiral Sims was quoted by the Daily Mail as saying: "I should like to have given your country a farewell message before returning to the United States but now I am under indictment and I feel that I can say nothing more here."

Secretary of the Navy Denby's cablegram, ordering Admiral Sims to return at once and make a report was received by the American naval officer this morning. Asked by an International News Service correspondent if he cared to make a statement, Admiral Sims replied: "I have no comment to make."

A dispatch received in London from Washington, containing Admiral Sims' reply to Secretary Denby's first cablegram of inquiry concerning the admiral's speech of last Tuesday, was misquoted. The Washington dispatch was followed by publication of a letter from Admiral Sims to the London Times, asking that newspaper to correct its report of his speech of Friday before the American Luncheon was the first indication here that the American naval officer charged that Club, in which he (Sims) was made to refer to "impossible men" on the allied council.

So far nothing has been said here in public in the way of an accusation that Admiral Sims was misquoted in his famous "jackass" speech of last Tuesday when he severely criticized the American friends of the Sinn Feiners.

Washington, June 13.—The reply of Rear Admiral Sims to Secretary of the Navy Denby contained disavowal of the statements attributed to him in his London speeches, has made it practically certain that no punishment will be meted out to him, when he returns to report in person to the secretary of the navy it was said today in high naval circles.

Admiral Sims, who had been "misquoted" that the context of his speech was "garbled misleading and inferentially wrong" so far as the speeches themselves are concerned, this practically closes the case, it was said today. There was no disposition today to question the veracity of the distinguished and visible admiral.

Admiral Sims, will however, be called upon to explain to the secretary of the navy why he delayed four days in offering the explanation which Secretary Denby had requested "without delay."

His tardiness in this respect, for which no explanation was offered was regarded in naval circles today as constituting an offense more grave than the utterances which first got him into difficulties.

The admiral already has been accorded a rebuke more severe than has been handed an officer of his rank within the memory of the older naval officers in Washington. For an officer of Sims' rank to be called upon summarily to make an explanation and following this to be peremptorily ordered home and his leave revoked, constituted, in themselves, a reproof of no small proportions.

It is doubtful if anything further will be done regarding Admiral Sims' case until his return to Washington, expected the last of next week.

The resolution of inquiry into his activities and reported utterances will be allowed to slumber in the senate naval affairs committee until he has reported to Secretary Denby and in all probability, then it will be allowed to die a natural death.

GREAT ROUNDUP OF BLACKHAND GANG STARTED

Activity Follows Murder of Five-Year-Old Boy in New York

RANSOM UNPAID

Ten Men Under Arrest—Parents of Boy Prostrated.

New York, June 13.—The greatest blackhand roundup the police have undertaken in this city in many years, was under way today as the result of the murder of five year old Giuseppe Varotta, whose body was found in the Hudson river, after the parents had failed to pay $2,500 ransom.

Ten men are already under arrest and the police said they expected to make other arrests later in the day. The criminals who killed little Giuseppe, because his parents were too poor to pay the ransom, are believed by the police to be Sicilians.

According to police records, this is the first time on record that blackhand kidnapers in New York have put a child to death for the non-payment of ransom. The Italian squad of the police department under orders to run down every member of the gang for the murder of the Varotta boy indicates that the blackhanders are becoming bolder in their efforts to extort money through crime. Salvatore Varotta and his wife the parents of the slain boy, are in a state of collapse. Little Giuseppe disappeared May 24. Physicians who examined the body, said that life had been extinct about two weeks.

M'GANNON GOES ON TRIAL AGAIN ON PERJURY CHARGE

Judge Florence Allen Presides On Cleveland Bench.

Cleveland, June 13.—William H. McGannon, former municipal judge twice tried for the murder of Harold C. Kagy, this morning goes on trial for a second time upon a charge of perjury growing out of the murder trial, at which, it is alleged, he swore falsely as witness in his own defense. His first trial on the charge was halted just before the first witness was called to stand when it was established that one of the jurors, a woman, empaneled and sworn in case, had made statements prejudicial to the defendant.

Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton and Attorney William H. Boyd counsel for the defendant, both expressed themselves as ready to go ahead.

Judge Florence L. Allen will preside and the case is being heard in the new courthouse where there are better facilities for keeping venemmen separated from the public.

SHARP REBUKE PLANNED AGAINST GOMPER'S RULE

CONVENTION OF A. F. O. L. OPENS; AWAIT TROUBLE

Opposition To Samuel Gompers Plans Attack On Leader.

IRISH QUESTION UP

Forty First Convention Expected To Grapple Knotty Problems.

Denver, Colo., June 13.—The forty-first annual convention of the American Federation of Labor opened here today with the opposition planning to rebuke the leadership of Samuel Gompers.

Those who charge that he does not support American interference in the Irish controversy and is out of sympathy with the Irish cause, were boasting that the veteran labor head "will be made to bow to the Sinn Fein."

The railroad unions, which charge he has done little to put into effect the declaration of last year's convention on government ownership and democratic control of the railroad's plan to bind him to definite action.

Irish sympathizers of all factions are lining up with demands that the convention go "to the limit" on the Irish question. Many of them go so far as to declare Eamonn DeValera, president of the "Irish republic" will dictate the Irish policy of America's great labor body.

Send Resolutions.

According to reports, Harry Boland, DeValera's secretary, who is still in this country has sent resolutions to be presented to the Irish sympathizers tonight when they meet to draft their program for the convention.

These resolutions, it is rumored, provide for the appointment of a labor commission of three to call on President Harding and later to go to England and Ireland to survey conditions and co-operate in action with labor forces in both countries.

They also said to provide that the American Federationist, official organ of the American Federation of Labor, shall publish in each issue, a statement proclaiming a boycott by organized labor on all British made goods until the Irish "republic" is recognized by the United States.

According to reports, the resolutions were placed in the hands of Peter J. Brady of New York with definite instructions to act. Brady, a member of the city government of New York, has been regarded as a sympathizer with the Cohalan faction of the Irish movement. Brady denies he will present resolutions drafted by any one but himself, and declares he has instructions from no one on the subject. He is known as a Gompers supporter. He confirms claims of the anti-Gompers faction that Gompers will "go along with" the convention's action on the Irish question, however extreme it may be and instructions will be given to the executive council that will make it impossible for that body to evade the issue.

Present Resolutions.

Although all Irish factions claim there will be harmonious action, there are predictions that two sets of resolutions will be presented to the convention. T. H. Vind, president of the labor body of south Chicago, Ill., and secretary of the labor bureau of the American Commission on Irish Independence, is here as a personal representative of Frank P. Walsh. He declared today that Gompers will be compelled to "go the limit" on the Irish question, along with the convention.

Letters in answer to a circular sent out by the labor bureau of the American Commission for Irish Independence, to put labor leaders on record on the Irish question, were made public today by Vind.

"You ask for a personal statement on the Irish situation," says Gompers in his answer. "A personal statement from me would not be as effective as the declaration made by the convention of the A. F. of L. regarding the Irish question."

"Permit me to add that I am a member of the American committee for relief in Ireland."

BASEBALL MAGNATE DECLARES PITTSBURGH CONDITIONS BAD

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 13.—District Attorney Harry Rowand and Superintendent of Police Thomas Carroll are expected to take notice today of the sensational charges made by Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh National League Baseball team to the effect that though he hires 30 city policemen to maintain order at the Forbes field park, yet gambling is being carried on within and without the grandstands and ball park.

The Dreyfuss charges are in part as follows: "Gamblers, mostly of the gutter-snipe class, although there are others, gamble openly in the ball park. They even make bets outside the door of my own office, as well as on the streets surrounding the park."

"I have repeatedly appealed to the police but get no satisfaction."

HOUSES FOR DOGS: CHILDREN NONE

Covington, Ky., June 13.—There are plenty of houses for dogs in Covington, but none for children.

This is the report made by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hedges, who have three boys and one girl and for three weeks have been hunting for a place to rear them. Their efforts have proven fruitless, but they do not despair yet. Today the following advertisement appeared in the papers:

"Does anybody know of a three to five room home that is owned by a man with a heart—a man who does not feel that children should be blacklisted. A man who thinks as much of a red blooded American boy or pretty American girl as he does of a long eared, bob tailed pup or gaudy parrot?"

Davidson of this city, was the principal speaker at the anniversary meeting of the Union Literary Society Saturday evening and Frank Chambliss of this year's class, also of this city, and president of the society, gave a talk on the life of the new president, Arthur E. Morgan. Music for the evening was furnished by Lafayette's orchestra of Springfield.

HOLD YOUTHFUL GUN WIELDER IN COLUMBUS STILL

Jimmy Blangy, aged 10, who was taken to Columbus last Friday for an examination by Dr. H. H. Goddard of the Bureau of Juvenile Research as to his mentality, is still in the hands of the Columbus physician.

Jimmy shot and killed his brother, Virgil, age eight, last Tuesday, and it was said that he is below normal mentally. Before being given a hearing here he was taken to Columbus and so interested did Dr. Goddard become in the case, that he kept the boy with him. Authorities here have not yet received word to send for the boy which indicates that Dr. Goddard is not yet through with him.

DIPLOMAS WILL BE RECEIVED BY 30,000 IN STATE

If all diplomas were genuine sheep skin and if one sheep would furnish the hide of two diplomas, it would require something like 15,000 of the bleating tribe to supply this year's Ohio graduates.

Estimates place graduates of high schools and institutions of higher learning at 30,000.

The state department of public instructions says high schools will give diplomas this year to approximately 22,000.

Colleges are to graduate nearly 5,000.

METEORS ON LONG END OF SCORING

St. Brigid's Meteors won the opening game by defeating the Red, White and Blues, of Dayton, at Reserve ball park, Sunday 12-11. The Red, White and Blues put up a great defense but were defeated through good team work of the local aggregation.

Inability to bunch their hits cost the visitors the game. McDonald's double in the ninth inning scoring F. Leachy decided the contest.

The Meteors started out strong counting four markers in the first inning. C. Leachy smashed a single to right field fence. Whittington fanned. Leachy stole second. O'Connor hit a double to center scoring E. Leachy. M. Leachy hit a double to left, O'Connor scoring. Leachy safe on third by Clark's wild throw. F. Leachy fanned. M. Leachy stole home. T. Neville was safe on Howell's error and stole second. Ratchford singled to right Neville scoring. McDonald fanned out.

McDonald on mound for the Meteors worked in fairly good form and was given good support. In spite of the three errors the Meteor played good ball on the green. Meteors hit Clark even, harder than the score shows. M. Leachy lifted one over the right field fence in the seventh frame. M. Leachy and F. Leachy were the batting stars.

SILENT CURFEW IS PROPOSED

Urbana, June 13.—At a special meeting of the city council a modification to the curfew ordinance, turned down some weeks ago, was offered by Councilman Miller and after some discussion managed to get enough votes to squeeze through.

The change was offered in the form of an amendment which still hangs on to the idea of keeping children under the age of 14 off the streets after 9 o'clock but does away with the sounding of any alarm. This amendment was offered, according to its sponsor, because the firemen did not want to ring the fire bell and the light company could not be persuaded to blow its siren whistle.

A motion to suspend the rules and place the ordinance on its passage was again lost and the matter was referred to the street committee.

O. S. & S. U. HOME CADETS WIN GAME

In a ball game full of fight from start to finish the O. S. and S. O. Cadets succeeded in trimming the Ohio Pythian Children's Home of Springfield, 7-6, in a 11 inning contest Saturday afternoon.

Turney walked and stole second. C. Nolan knocked a three bagger to deep center. Braun and Turney scoring. Pasture fanned and Brewster did likewise ending the inning.

Brewster won the game for the locals with a three base hit, scoring Lewis in the eleventh. Brewster, L. Nolan and C. Nolan sparked with the ash for the Cadets.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN ON WEST MARKET STREET

Fire believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in hay in the loft of the barn owned by D. B. Johns on West Market street, completely destroyed the structure with its contents, about 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and gave to firemen on, of the hottest fires to fight they have experienced for some time.

Flames also spread from the barn to a chicken house across the alley, owned by Mrs. Sarah C. Davis, 214 West Main street, which was partially destroyed, and embers falling on the roof of the barn owned by Mrs. Emma Simonds, next to the John's barn, ignited the roof, but were extinguished by firemen before they spread.

Men working on the roof of a nearby building discovered the blaze in the John's barn first, and called to Miss Bessie Reutinger, who notified the Fire Department. When they got there they saw the flames about the same time and ran through the barn with the intention of releasing the horses that are usually kept there. There was no stock in the structure however.

The barn is rented from Mr. John, by Addison Evans, who had a quantity of hay and some farm implements in the building at the time of the fire. A load of hay had just been put in the loft last week, it is said, and it is believed his loss will be total.

The barn itself is insured according to the owner. Fourteen chickens that were in the chicken house owned by Mrs. Davis, were gotten out safely, before the flames had eaten their way to the inside of that building, and sight seers forming a bucket brigade got the fire in the shed under control.

The hazards of fighting the fire were increased by the fact that the flames, reaching high in the air, burned through an electric cable, burned through a wire fall on the firemen. Telephone wires connecting house on both sides of the alley, were burned through, disabling telephone services, for a number of houses. Severe heat arising from the burning wood of the barn, and the hay in the loft kept sight seers from getting close to the conflagration.

ASTOR HOME ROBBED

New York, June 13.—The home of Vincent Astor at No. 840 Fifth Avenue was entered on the afternoon of June 4, by burglars, who made away with loot between $10,000 and $20,000 in value, it became known today. Jewelry and trinkets belonging to Mr. Astor, Mrs. Astor and R. Peters, said to be a cousin of Mr. Astor, was taken by the thief, who entered, probably through the servant's entrance.

MAN CAN RISE ABOVE ENVIRONMENT SAYS SPEAKER IN SERMON TO HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

Rev. B. B. Uhl, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, struck the keynote of a lesson of value, in the baccalaureate sermon delivered to the 68 pupils of the graduating class of the Central High School, at the First Methodist Church, Sunday night.

Taking for his subject, "Man and His Environment," Rev. Uhl dwelt upon the importance of the ability of one to stem the tide of circumstances and environment, and to conquer and shape one's own destiny.

The subject which was especially applicable to the high school graduates, was delivered by Rev. Uhl in a both forceful and interesting manner.

"We are influenced by environment but life gives us power to rise and triumph over it," Rev. Uhl said. The speaker took for his text, the 12th Chapter of Romans, the second verse, "Be not conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind, to provide that which is good and acceptable in the sight of God."

"We are what we are," Rev. Uhl declared, "largely because we are raised in a certain country, in a certain environment, and by the improvement or the detriment of our surroundings. Your surroundings depend upon three factors, the state, the parent, the church. The state provides laws that govern the parent, and the church. The state provides the laws that govern the parent, and it is the God-given right of the parent to provide the necessary guidance of the child. The church is given the su-prema right of spiritual environment." Rev. Uhl went on to say: "The general trend of popular philosophy is to exaggerate the importance of environment, that which moulds the man, at the expense of the man who moulds his environment."

"Man is a creature of his environment. People talk as if character, were a matter of climate, religion a matter of geography, and environment a matter of the weather which moulds men like clay, no creature being given the faculty or power of initiation."

"The effect of the view is apparent, it paralyzes moral effort and muffles moral responsibility and arouses the attitude in the minds of men, to ask this question, 'Am I to be blamed for my surroundings?' the result being a futile attempt and the resignation to the circumstances. Hold on! Something is wrong!"

"We are responsible beings. There is a still, small voice that tells us of our being misled, and a still larger voice of God that tells us that we are responsible. Every living being has the God-given power to mould his character, and to fashion his destiny."

"These are given to us that we may not drift with the tide, but that we may swim and overcome the obstacles. It is true that we are placed in stormy seas, at the mercy of the waves, but God has placed us in a vessel equipped with rudders and oars to guide us safely ashore. Surroundings make it difficult but difficulty does not spell defeat."

As a parting word to the class of graduates Rev. Uhl complimented them upon their being able to stem the tide through the course of twelve years of training and that their success was shown in their number.

"Be not conformed in the manner of life that prevails around you but transcend, rise and pour out God's spirit," were employed by Rev. Uhl in the closing words of his sermon.

An effective procession of the large class of pupils opened the exercises Sunday evening. The services, were opened with the invocation by Dr. G. A. Scott of the First Methodist Church. The choir of that church had charge of the next number rendering the anthem "I Will Magnify Thee, Oh God." The reading of the scripture by Dr. Charles P. Prouditt of the Second United Presbyterian Church, followed by prayer and Rev. E. W. Middleton of the First Reformed Church, and the anthem "These Are They," preceded Rev. Uhl's sermon.

The services of the class which is the largest in the history of the school, were attended by an audience that filled the church. Rev. V. F. Brown of the Trinity Church closed the services with benediction.

CHURCHES OF CITY OBSERVE CHILDREN'S DAY ON SUNDAY

Many fond parents and admiring friends gazed upon juvenile church members, in the annual Children's Day exercises at the Xenia City Churches, Sunday.

Practically the same program was followed in each of the denominations, the simplicity and beauty of each of the church year. Trinity Methodist Church combined the Sunday School and regular preaching services into the children's occasion. Eight infants were baptized at the services, several adults taking the vows of the church. A beautiful sermon was delivered by Rev. V. F. Brown at the close of the exercises.

Songs, flowers and recitations were combined in the Children's Day Festival at the First Reformed Church, the children of the congregation presenting a lovely and interesting program.

A special musical program by the choir was held by the First Lutheran Church, on the occasion of the day. Junior and Intermediate classes of the First United Presbyterian Church both took part in the Children's Day program of that church. Rev. D. D. Dodds, pastor, preached an interesting sermon upon "Insects With Wings," at the close of the services.

Clever little recitations and songs in charge, of the children of the church, under the direction of Mrs. Harvey Coates featured the Children's Day program at the Second United Presbyterian Church.

The annual exercises of the First Methodist Church will be held on Sunday, June 19, the program of which will be announced later.

FIRE DESTROYS COUNTRY HOME ON CLIFTON PIKE

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the country home of W. H. Hann, on the Clifton pike six miles south of Springfield, early Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna and their two children were driven from their beds in their night clothes by the blaze, which they had no means to fight. The wind kept the flames away from hegarege, barn and other outbuildings, and two men who happened to be passing in an automobile assisted in saving some of the household goods and clothing.

The house was completely geroxyed, the loss estimated at several thousand dollars, being covered by insurance.

DENIES REPORTS OF MARTIAL LAW

Washington, June 13.—Reports that martial law had been declared in Haiti were denied today by Secretary of the Navy Denby. The Secretary said that he believed the report may have arisen from the fact that he has given authority for a courtmartial of a native editor who has made constant attacks on the American administration but who has never been punished by the civil courts.

BOYS—AND "SNAP."

What has become of the boys? You have seen in this paper frequent notices of paper carrier routes for sale, and often with the inducement that they are good paying. Why? Because there are no takers, no boys seeming to want the business—that is boys who have any "snap" to fill the bill to the satisfaction of their employes. It did not used to be so. It used to be that these routes were in demand—that there was always a waiting list of boys wanting the business.

And we are told it is the same with all news agencies. That it is almost impossible to get reliable boys to deliver papers. Why is this so?

We have the evidence that in the past many boys have "made good" as carriers of this paper—have not only made money, but have made character, have "made men" of themselves. We know of one boy who in two or three years made $500, saved it, used it to get a college education, became a minister, went as such to a foreign country where he was long a University professor. He had "snap." We know of two boys, brothers, one three years older than the other, who as carriers of this paper each in turn saved $700, put the money in a building society, used it to get college educations, and now are successful business men in a large city. It goes without saying that their father is very proud of them. They had "snap."

The standard dictionary gives one definition of "Snap" as brisk energy and vigor of character or style. And this appears to be the ingredient that is left out of the make-up of so many of the boys today. They are so indifferent in the performance of their tasks that they are no account.

Or is it the class of boys? Are the boys of our best families too high toned to be paper carriers? It did not used to be so.

Youth is the period for building up habits and hopes—to do something and become somebody. It must be an industrious youth that provides against age; he that fools away the one must either beg or starve in the other. Sad is the spectacle of youth idling away the spring-time of life.

"Unless a tree has borne blossoms in spring, you will look in vain for fruit on it in autumn."

At what age does a boy awake to the reality that it is up to himself to determine whether he will be a mere dolt in the world, or whether he will, as a man, be a person of consequence?

Perhaps some earlier, some later. At all events all boys in their teens should realize this, whether high or low born, for it is a fact.

Wake up boys. Show that you have some "Snap" by taking hold of the realities of life. Take the boyhood example of Carnegie, or Edison, or John Wanamaker as a pattern on which to base your life.

AMENDMENTS TO THE LEAGUE.

The covenant of the league of nations is now up for amendment. The league committee on amendments has assembled in London to consider alterations proposed at the first meeting of the league in Geneva. Changes have been proposed by eleven member nations, covering a wide range of subjects. The most important, perhaps, are the Canadian proposal to eliminate article X, the Czechoslovakian proposal to extend regional understandings and the Argentine proposal to admit to the league any sovereign nation desiring to enter it.

The first of these is of chief interest to America, because the fight against the league in this country has centered around article X. That article obligates members "to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." It is understood that an effort is being made to effect a compromise by which the article will be so modified that each state will be bound only to "respect" the integrity and independence of others, without the responsibility of "preserving" them. That would satisfy many critics.

The most interesting fact of the situation is that the league is in actual process of amendment and transformation, to suit the ideas of its members and to apply the lessons of experience, just as the United States government was in its early years and still is, for that matter.

A REFORMER REFORMED.

It is reported that Emma Goldman, former violent critic of these United States, who was deported to Russia last year, is now eager to return to America, "where she wants to die." If this is true, and her reasons for wishing to return to this country are based on a new vision and appreciation of the meaning and methods of freedom as set forth in our constitution, it might be a good thing to grant her wish and to let Miss Goldman return. She might bring a sobering message to anarchistic agitators still here.

Any honest and intelligent American knows that poverty, injustice, ignorance and governmental inefficiency exist in the United States. He knows at the same time that there are greater opportunities for happiness, progress and justice here than in any other country in the world. What Emma Goldman and her companions failed to recognize is that all the machinery for rectifying injustice is at hand, and that education of public opinion and fair and honest exposure of wrongs furnish the power which makes this machinery move. Calling names and inciting to violence do more harm than benefit to the cause of justice and righteousness.

Honest, constructive criticism is essential to the best growth of our institutions and government as those of the United States. There is no place here, however, for criticism which merely denigrates and which would bring about its reforms by sudden methods.

We are pleased to learn that quite a number of people who bought lots at the sale last Saturday, intend to build houses at once. We are informed that at least half a dozen homes will be started within a couple of weeks. If this is true, the Galloway addition will soon blossom into a thriving and beautiful location.

Ex-Xenians Living in and Near Chicago Hold Reunion

(By C. G. WHITMER)

The following persons living in Chicago and suburbs are greatly indebted to Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Galloway for a most enjoyable evening spent in their beautiful home in Evanston, as their guests on Saturday May 26.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Arbogast, 808 Lakeside Place; Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Allen, 204 N. Central Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Belcher, 440 N. 60th place; Miss Alma L. Babb, 1457 E. 54th Place; Mr. R. F. Bird, 16 N. Division St.; Mr. and Mrs. Allison Landaker, 1536 E. 67th Place; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Prugh, 1915 Montrose Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Patton, 133 W. 111th Place; Miss Jesse Pearson, 1457 E. 54th Place; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Watt, 1352 E. 47th Place; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Whitmer, 412 W. 61st St.; Rev. Littell, Oak Park; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dodds, Winnetka, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Snyder, Winnetka, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Fitzgerald, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Hynes, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder, Kenilworth, Ill.; Miss Ida M. Jackson, Xenia, Ohio.

The guests were mostly ex-Xenia people and includes the names of some who will be better recognized as they were known in other days: viz. Gertrude Hagar, Bertha Maddux, Helen Jenks, Lulu Frame, Dot King, Eda Fet, Anna Barnes and Addie Garfield.

There was of course much reminiscing and recalling of days gone by. The first to leave Xenia was Mr. Hynes, 41 years ago. Mr. Dodds left about 31 years ago and the writer 14 years ago.

The surprise of the evening was the stereopticon feature, showing Xenia views, past and present, which were greatly enjoyed and called forth many comments. One showed Prof. Cox, sitting in his buggy, and was commented on by Leslie Dodds, who recalled the time at the Home-Coming when he engaged the professor in conversation in his buggy, while his brother Charley crossed the lines at the horses bit. Leslie said the horse went in circles the rest of the day, and pulled up at the standpipe in the evening instead of at the Professor's stable.

When a view of the old court house was shown, Lulu Dodds remarked that the laying of the cornerstone was still fresh in her memory although many other things she had forgotten.

An interesting group picture of the High School faculty of years ago was shown, which developed the fact that nearly every one present had sat under Jessa Pearson's instruction in their younger days.

It was a most delightful occasion and all present found it very enjoyable to turn aside from the rush of every day affairs in a big city, renew old acquaintances and talk over old times spent in good old Xenia.

The evening closed with a vote of thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Galloway for their hospitality and an invitation was extended by Mr. and Mrs. Hynes to hold the next reunion in their home in Evanston.

FARMERS STILL HOLD WHEAT AND CORN; SEE GOOD CROP

Washington, C. H., June 13.—On Fayette County farms thousands of bushels of last year's wheat crop, which could have been sold at $2.63 per bushel at threshing time last year may still be found, with the present price at $1.35 and with the price at harvest time estimated at $1 or a little above for the opening.

In addition to the thousands of bushels of old wheat, tens of thousands of bushels of corn remain cribbed up on the farm a large portion being in rail pens, and in a few instances no roof over the pens.

Present indications are for one of the largest wheat yields in Fayette county in recent years, and the present condition is regarded as above normal. It is believed harvest will open by the 16th to 20th and that most of the wheat will be cut and ready for the thrasher by early July.

ARMORY MAY BE ERECTED NEXT YEAR

Washington, C. H., June 13.—With the near selection of an armory site in this city, upon which a $40,000 structure will be erected to house M. Company, and incidentally afford the largest assembly hall in the city for public gatherings, the question of when the armory will be erected is in the forefront once more.

Indications are that the preliminary plans and possibly some of the work on the building may be taken up this year, but it is expected that the armory will not be erected until late in the summer of 1922, when it is expected to be ready for use.

However, this is not a settled fact, and it may be in the summer of 1922 before the work on the building is started.

The main drill floor, which can also be used for an assembly hall, will be 60 to 80 by 100 to 125 feet.

Practical Business Talks

COURTESY PAYS.

Way back in the dim ages of the past, someone evolved a short epigram of great import. He said: "It's the little things that count."

How true that is in the case of courtesy to the public.

A great store may plan elaborate show counters and costly conveniences to make shopping a pleasure.

Yet some trifling bit of rudeness, some curt word on the part of a salesman, some trifling instance of inattention and neglect on the part of an employee, will in an instant undo all that has been planned to please the customer.

It cannot too often be said that courtesy means more than the saying of "thank you," and good morning." It means sincerity and true friendliness. It means honesty and it means gentleness.

Great stores are so highly competitive that it is only with the utmost difficulty that one business is able to present features or merchandise which another business cannot easily and exactly duplicate.

As yet, however, there is very little competition in genuine courtesy and the business which specializes in genuine courtesy and friendliness will find before long that the price appeal is not everything.

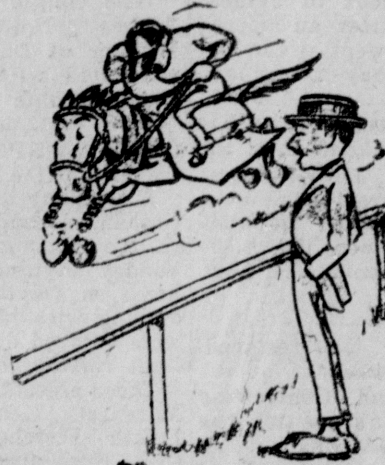

A man or woman will go a long way to trade with an establishment in which the spirit of friendliness and true courtesy is to be found.

To the average hard-headed business man this idea may seem visionary. Yet courtesy has a big dollar-and-cents value and one of these days someone will get rich by getting the maximum profit value out of the smile and the sincere greeting.

SELF PRAISE.

The man who tells how good he is should drop the stunt in haste; he merely makes men sigh, "Gee whiz," and think he shows poor taste. I hope that I have sterling worth, of which my neighbors tell; I hope that I adorn the earth on which I deign to dwell! I hope I'm loaded to the guards with qualities so fine that I'm a model to all bards who write the lifting line. But I must show them by my deeds, which are in daily view, and not by empty words or creeds, or with my loud bazoo. My merits will be known to all, though I am like a clam; I do not need to hire a hall to tell how good I am. If I in anything excel, the town will know the fact; I do not need to ring a bell attention to attract. The man who's prone to emphasize his claim to harp and crow soon finds that all the other guys expect he'll jump the town. True worth in modesty arrayed is sweet and passing fit when it's brazenly displayed we guess it isn't there. With prints of my merits bright your ears I shall not vex, though I may be a shining light, a credit to my sex.

DEALERS HESITATE ABOUT PAYING CIGARETTE TAX

With the final day for paying the cigarette tax just a week away, dealers are coming in to settle up very slowly, according to County Treasurer J. E. Sutton. The tax must be paid by June 20, the time for paying all June taxes, and there will be no extension as the county commissioners have no right to extend the time for payment of the cigarette tax, it is said. The tax is $50 a year and dealers are hesitant about paying the tax because of its size, which practically eliminates the small dealer from handling cigarettes, it is said. One local dealer estimated that 800 cigarettes a day would have to be sold to pay the tax alone without figuring a profit at all.

BOYS—AND "SNAP."

What has become of the boys? You have seen in this paper frequent notices of paper carrier routes for sale, and often with the inducement that they are good paying. Why? Because there are no takers, no boys seeming to want the business—that is boys who have any "snap" to fill the bill to the satisfaction of their employes. It did not used to be so. It used to be that these routes were in demand—that there was always a waiting list of boys wanting the business.

And we are told it is the same with all news agencies. That it is almost impossible to get reliable boys to deliver papers. Why is this so?

We have the evidence that in the past many boys have "made good" as carriers of this paper—have not only made money, but have made character, have "made men" of themselves. We know of one boy who in two or three years made $500, saved it, used it to get a college education, became a minister, went as such to a foreign country where he was long a University professor. He had "snap." We know of two boys, brothers, one three years older than the other, who as carriers of this paper each in turn saved $700, put the money in a building society, used it to get college educations, and now are successful business men in a large city. It goes without saying that their father is very proud of them. They had "snap."

The standard dictionary gives one definition of "Snap" as brisk energy and vigor of character or style. And this appears to be the ingredient that is left out of the make-up of so many of the boys today. They are so indifferent in the performance of their tasks that they are no account.

Or is it the class of boys? Are the boys of our best families too high toned to be paper carriers? It did not used to be so.

Youth is the period for building up habits and hopes—to do something and become somebody. It must be an industrious youth that provides against age; he that fools away the one must either beg or starve in the other. Sad is the spectacle of youth idling away the spring-time of life.

"Unless a tree has borne blossoms in spring, you will look in vain for fruit on it in autumn."

At what age does a boy awake to the reality that it is up to himself to determine whether he will be a mere dolt in the world, or whether he will, as a man, be a person of consequence?

Perhaps some earlier, some later. At all events all boys in their teens should realize this, whether high or low born, for it is a fact.

Wake up boys. Show that you have some "Snap" by taking hold of the realities of life. Take the boyhood example of Carnegie, or Edison, or John Wanamaker as a pattern on which to base your life.

AMENDMENTS TO THE LEAGUE.

The covenant of the league of nations is now up for amendment. The league committee on amendments has assembled in London to consider alterations proposed at the first meeting of the league in Geneva. Changes have been proposed by eleven member nations, covering a wide range of subjects. The most important, perhaps, are the Canadian proposal to eliminate article X, the Czechoslovakian proposal to extend regional understandings and the Argentine proposal to admit to the league any sovereign nation desiring to enter it.

The first of these is of chief interest to America, because the fight against the league in this country has centered around article X. That article obligates members "to respect and preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." It is understood that an effort is being made to effect a compromise by which the article will be so modified that each state will be bound only to "respect" the integrity and independence of others, without the responsibility of "preserving" them. That would satisfy many critics.

The most interesting fact of the situation is that the league is in actual process of amendment and transformation, to suit the ideas of its members and to apply the lessons of experience, just as the United States government was in its early years and still is, for that matter.

A REFORMER REFORMED.

It is reported that Emma Goldman, former violent critic of these United States, who was deported to Russia last year, is now eager to return to America, "where she wants to die." If this is true, and her reasons for wishing to return to this country are based on a new vision and appreciation of the meaning and methods of freedom as set forth in our constitution, it might be a good thing to grant her wish and to let Miss Goldman return. She might bring a sobering message to anarchistic agitators still here.

Any honest and intelligent American knows that poverty, injustice, ignorance and governmental inefficiency exist in the United States. He knows at the same time that there are greater opportunities for happiness, progress and justice here than in any other country in the world. What Emma Goldman and her companions failed to recognize is that all the machinery for rectifying injustice is at hand, and that education of public opinion and fair and honest exposure of wrongs furnish the power which makes this machinery move. Calling names and inciting to violence do more harm than benefit to the cause of justice and righteousness.

Honest, constructive criticism is essential to the best growth of institutions and government as those of the United States. There is no place here, however, for criticism which merely and which would bring about its reforms by sudden methods.

We are pleased to learn that quite a number of people who bought lots at the sale last Saturday, intend to build houses at once. We are informed that at least half a dozen homes will be started within a couple of weeks. If this is true, the Galloway addition will soon blossom into a thriving and beautiful location.

Ex-Xenians Living in and Near Chicago Hold Reunion

(By C. G. WHITMER)

The following persons living in Chicago and suburbs are greatly indebted to Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Galloway for a most enjoyable evening spent in their beautiful home in Evanston, as their guests on Saturday May 26.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Arbogust, 808 Lakeside Place; Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Allen, 204 N. Central Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Belcher, 440 N. 60th place; Miss Alma L. Babb, 1457 E. 54th Place; Mr. R. F. Bird, 16 N. Division St.; Mr. and Mrs. Allison Landaker, 1536 E. 67th Place; Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Prugh, 1915 Montrose Ave.; Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Patton, 133 W. 111th Place; Miss Jesse Pearson, 1457 E. 54th Place; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Watt, 1352 E. 47th Place; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Whitmer, 412 W. 61st St.; Rev. Little, Oak Park; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dodds, Winnetka, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Snyder, Winnetka, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Fitzgerald, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. F. Hynes, Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder, Kenilworth, Ill.; Miss Ida M. Jackson, Xenia, Ohio.

The guests were mostly ex-Xenia people and includes the names of some who will be better recognized as they were known in other days: Helen Jenkins, Lulu Frame, Dot King Eda Fet, Anna Barnes and Addie Garfield.

There was of course much reminiscing and recalling of days gone by. The first to leave Xenia was Mr. Hynes, 41 years ago. Mr. Dodds left about 31 years ago and the writer 14 years ago.

The surprise of the evening was the stereopticon feature, showing Xenia views, past and present, which were greatly enjoyed and called forth many comments. One showed Prof. Cox, sitting in his buggy and was commented on by Leslie Dodds, who recalled the time at the Home-Coming when he engaged the professor in conversation in his buggy, while his brother Charley crossed the lines at the horses bit. Leslie said the horse went in circles the rest of the day, and pulled up at the standpipe in the evening instead of at the Prof's sordid stable.

When a view of the old court house was shown, Lulu Dodds remarked that the laying of the cornerstone was still fresh in her memory although many other things she had forgotten.

An interesting group picture of the High School faculty of years ago was shown, which developed the fact that nearly every one present had sat under Jesse Pearson's instruction in their younger days.

It was a most delightful occasion and all present found it very enjoyable to turn aside from the rush of every day affairs in a big city, renew old acquaintances and talk over old times spent in good old Xenia.

The evening closed with a vote of thanks to Dr. and Mrs. Galloway for their hospitality and an invitation was extended by Mr. and Mrs. Hynes to hold the next reunion in their home in Evanston.

FARMERS STILL HOLD WHEAT AND CORN; SEE GOOD CROP

Washington, C. H., June 13.—On Fayette County farms thousands of bushels of last year's wheat crop, which could have been sold at $2.63 per bushel at threshing time last year may still be found, with the present price at $1.35 and with the price at harvest time estimated at $1 or a little above for the opening.

In addition to the thousands of bushels of old wheat, tens of thousands of bushels of corn remain cribbed up on the farm a large portion being in rail pens, and in a few instances no roof over the pens.

Present indications are for one of the largest wheat yields in Fayette county in recent years, and the present condition is regarded as above normal. It is believed harvest will open by the 16th to 20th, and that most of the wheat will be cut and ready for the thrasher by early July.

ARMORY MAY BE ERECTED NEXT YEAR

Washington, C. H., June 13.—With the near selection of an armory site in this city, upon which a $40,000 structure will be erected to house M. Company, and incidentally afford the largest assembly hall in the city for public gatherings, the question of when the armory will be erected is in the forefront once more.

Indications are that the preliminary plans and possibly some of the work on the building may be taken up this year, but it is expected that the armory will not be erected until late in the summer of 1922, when it is expected to be ready for use.

However, this is not a settled fact, and it may be in the summer of 1922 before the work on the building is started.

The main drill floor, which can also be used for an assembly hall, will be 60 to 80 by 100 to 125 feet.

Practical Business Talks

COURTESY PAYS.

Way back in the dim ages of the past, someone evolved a short epigram of great import. He said: "It's the little things that count."

How true that is in the case of courtesy to the public.

A great store may plan elaborate show counters and costly conveniences to make shopping a pleasure.

Yet some trifling bit of rudeness, some curt word on the part of a salesman, some trifling instance of inattention and neglect on the part of an employee, will in an instant undo all that has been planned to please the customer.

It cannot too often be said that courtesy means more than the saying of "thank you," and good morning." It means sincerity and true friendliness. It means honesty and it means gentleness.

Great stores are so highly competitive that it is only with the utmost difficulty that one business is able to present features or merchandise which another business cannot easily and exactly duplicate.

As yet, however, there is very little competition in genuine courtesy and the business which specializes in genuine courtesy and friendliness will find before long that the price appeal is not everything.

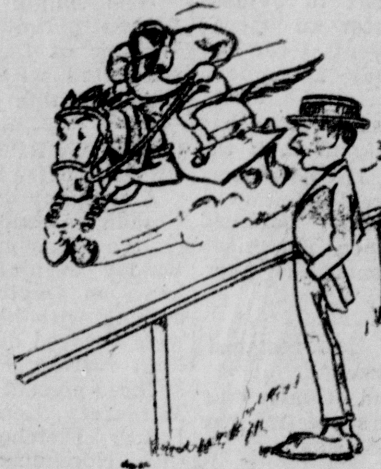

A man or woman will go a long way to trade with an establishment in which the spirit of friendliness and true courtesy is to be found.

To the average hard-headed business man this idea may seem visionary. Yet courtesy has a big dollar-and-cents value and one of these days someone will get rich by getting the maximum profit value out of the smile and the sincere greeting.

SELF PRAISE.

The man who tells how good he is should drop that stunt in haste; he merely makes men sigh, "Gee whiz," and think he shows poor taste. I hope that I have sterling worth, of which my neighbors tell; I hope that I adorn the earth on which I deign to dwell; I hope I'm loaded to the guards with qualities so fine that I'm a model to all bards who write the lifting line. But I must show them by my deeds, which are in daily view, and not by empty words or creeds, or with my loud bazoo. My merits will be known to all, though I am like a clam; I do not need to hire a hall to tell how good I am. If I in anything excel, the town will know the fact; I do not need to ring a bell attention to attract. The man who's prone to emphasize his claim to harp and crown soon finds that all the other guys expect he'll jump the town. True worth in modesty arrayed is sweet and passing fast when it's brazenly displayed we guess it isn't there. With prints of my merits bright your ears I shall not vex, though I may be a shining light, a credit to my sex.

DEALERS HESITATE ABOUT PAYING CIGARETTE TAX

With the final day for paying the cigarette tax just a week away, dealers are coming in to settle up very slowly, according to County Treasurer J. E. Sutton.

The tax must be paid by June 20, the time for paying all June taxes, and there will be no extension as the county commissioners have no right to extend the time for payment of the cigarette tax, it is said.

The tax is $50 a year and dealers are hesitant about paying the tax because of its size, which practically eliminates the small dealer from handling cigarettes, it is said. One local dealer estimated that 800 cigarettes a day would have to be sold to pay the tax alone without figuring a profit at all.

'AIM HIGH' URGES SPEAKER SUNDAY AT WILBERFORCE

Two hundred students from the various departments of Wilberforce University, who will receive their diplomas next Thursday, assembled in the auditorium of Galloway Hall Sunday morning and listened to the Baccalaureate sermon delivered by Bishop A. J. Carey of Chicago.

Pres. J. A. Gregg presided and the music was furnished by the university choir under the direction of Mr. George T. Simpson. The opening prayer was made by Rev. A. L. Burney of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the scripture lesson by Rev. J. M. Green, President of Shorter College, Little Rock, Ark. President J. A. Gregg introduced the speaker who spoke from the XXXVIII Chapter of Job and selected as a subject "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star."

"I have chosen to use this text and invite you to go with me into a little 'Study of the Stars,'" said the speaker. "Taking it for granted that the members of the class of '21, who by dint of arduous study, rigid discipline and many sacrifices have come finally to this happy joyous day when they are about to take leave of Alma Mater and go out into the untrodden world with its dim, uncertain future, its harder tasks, its failures and its triumphs, would like to linger a little longer in the atmosphere of study."

"Aim high," declared the speaker "look upward toward the stars. That's how men rise from the rank to be glorified in the world's memory." The speaker declared that Burns at the plough tail, Claude Lorraine in the pastry cook's shop, Quixote in the milk boy and Sir Isaac Newton with his cabbages in the Grantham, and John Bunyan bending kettles and Martin Luther singing in the streets for bread and made their history. He then referred to his own race and spoke of Richard Allen, the founder of the great African Methodist Episcopal Church, spreading the gospel in every quarter of the globe, how he arose from his knees in old St. George and led the negro to the "New Dawn of Day" by the North Star, and how Fred Douglass running away from slavery and D. A. Payne, the founder of Wilberforce University, and Paul Lawrence Dunbar breathing inspiration while running an elevator in Dayton, Ohio. "They all listened to the music of the stars, and so rose above the dust and dirt and smoke of earth." If the elements of greatness are in you they will come out, though an Alps were piled upon them, or though the pelicans have out of the solid rock hid them in its heart of stones.

The speaker made an appeal for a closer relationship of the colored people. He spoke of the late Benjamin A. Arnett as the statesman, orator and churchman; Benjamin F. Lee, the College President and Senior Bishop of the A. M. E. Church; James Albert Johnson, the prince of pulpits; Thomas H. Jackson as the theologian, parliamentarian and preacher; Hallie Q. Brown, the educator, traveler and president of the National Federation of Colored Women and numerous other preachers and educators of the race. The graduates arose in a body and received the closing remarks of the speaker who declared in a firm voice that was heard throughout the vast audience, "Never in all the history of the world was there such need of strong, equipped, aspiring, active college-bred men and women as there is today. This period of readjustment is a challenge to the bravest and the best among you. Say not there is yet four months and then cometh the harvest. Lift up your eyes—the fields are ripe unto the harvest, thrust in the sickle for the harvest is ripe and the Lord of the harvest wants the reapers. And to you young men, warm in the fires of holy enthusiasm, to you young women of rarest endurance and affection—to you rich in the grandeur of your latent powers the Lord of the harvest comes."

In the afternoon Rev. J. M. Wheeler of Pittsburgh delivered an address on "Christianity and Education," to the religious societies the Young Men's Christian Association the Young Women's Christian Association Endeavor attended in a body. At the close of the address Miss Naomi R. Cherot, the newly elected president of the Y. W. C. A. called Miss Amanda Mason a young lady from Liberia, Africa, a student at the school for nine years, who will graduate Thursday and return to her native country and presented her with a fund of fifty dollars. The Y. W. C. A. have formed an Amanda Mason Club and pledged themselves to forward means to assist Miss Mason in her work.

The concluding exercises for the day was the Annual Sermon to the graduating class from Payne Theological Seminary delivered by Bishop B. F. Lee.

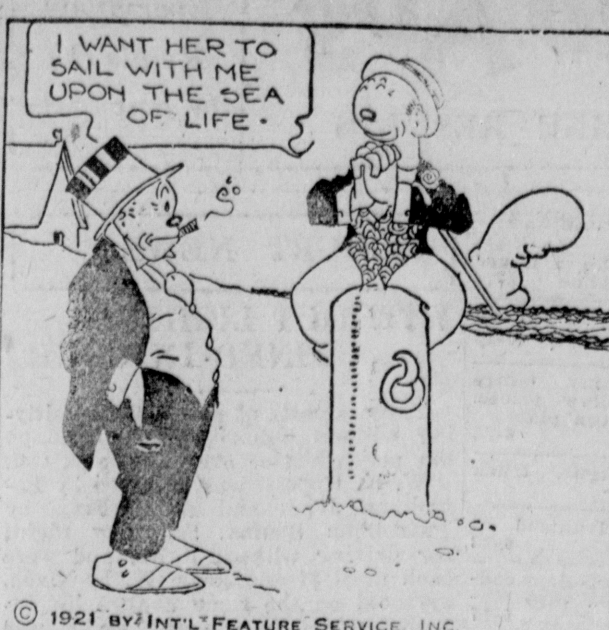

EXPERIMENT WILL PREVENT DUST

Chillicothe, June 13.—For some years the state of Michigan has used Calcium chloride with great success on its roads, the idea being that this chemical spread over the roads will absorb moisture from the air and thus keep the road free from dust. This is similar to the action of salt which also absorbs moisture.

Ross county has received a shipment of a carload of the stuff and it was spread on the pike from the paved stretch below Hopetown to that above it. A common lime spreader such as that used by farmers will be commandeered to do the work which will be in charge of an agent from the state highway department.

A stretch of road in Ross county was the first in the state to be treated for this purpose.

GAS SAVER.

I have found this a good gas saver When preparing boiled dinners. Prepare some pudding which is to be steamed and place in steamer above meat or whatever is to be boiled sufficiently long to steam pudding and therefore one burner serves for cooking the dinner and desert.

SEAT FOR OLD CHAIR.

A very satisfactory new seat for an old chair may be made by tearing denim, brown or green, into two-inch strips and folding in the cut edges, making an inch strip. Weave these strips as any basket splints are woven, first placing all the strips in one direction, then weaving the others through alternately, keeping the smooth side up. Old braid could be used, if denim is much stronger.

MISS JESSIE HICKMAN.

CAPITALIZING ON SHORTNESS. Readymade petticoats are often much too long for small women and have to be shortened in some way. If you have this trouble buy a silk or heatherbloom petticoat long as can be found, cut off the top of it to the length desired and put a draw string in the top of it. Then take the piece that you have cut off from the top of it, turn it upside down and hem the top, put in a draw string and put some kind of heavy ribbon of the same color for straps, over the shoulders and you have a camisole to match your petticoat for the cost of the petticoat alone. Oftentimes silk camisoles are very expensive. Of course the top of the camisole may be scalloped or trimmed as desired.

MRS. CARRIE HATFIELD. CASTOFF WOOLEN UNDERWEAR. Castoff woolen underwear dyed a dark color be made into sweaters, jerseys and petticoats for children. Buttonhole the edges with yarn as a hem would be. Practical and pretty garments for the little folks can thus be made.

GOOD RECIPE FOR HARD SOAP. To one pound can of lye add one quart of cold water and a half cupful of ammonia, still stirring, as the more you stir the whiter the soap will become. Line a shallow box with paper and pour in the soap. As it begins to harden cut in cakes the convenient size. Leave to ripen, the longer the better.

FURNITURE POLISH. The best furniture polish that can be had is made by taking equal parts of turpentine, good cider vinegar and raw linseed oil and mixing well together.

A STITCH IN TIME. As the stocking of the boys' bloomers begins to wear thin on the knees, but before there is a hole, I put a patch on the under side, being careful the stitches don't show through, and the wear comes on the patch instead of the outside.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

By JANE PHELPS.

A LUNCHEON IN TOWN—AND TEARS. CHAPTER 66.

"Is Mr. Sanderson in?" I asked the office boy. "Yes, ma'am." I walked into his private office after he had called "come in" in response to my knock. "Hello, Vera! What brings you to town?" he asked pleasantly, as I kissed him. He was alone, or I never should have dared be so familiar.

"I had an errand or two I wanted to do so I thought I would lunch with you and then do them." "Fine! Margaret and Mrs. De Lisle are going to lunch with me, too. Your coming will just make a tableful."

I was as happy as could be that we were glad to see me. It showed, I thought, that he wasn't particular about being with Mrs. De Lisle when I wasn't along. It was just a little after 1 o'clock when we met Margaret and the widow at the Banker's Club. We got there first, and when they came in and saw me their faces were a study. Margaret did not try to conceal her discomfiture.

"Where in the world did you come from?" she asked, her eyes spitting fire.

"From the same place you did," I replied.

"I didn't hear you say anything about coming into town at break-fast."

"No? Too bad I didn't mention it. Yet I can't see why I should. Keith had been giving the order or I should never have dared answer her as I did. I believe you"—she caught herself. Keith had just looked at us, and asked:

"Please stop visiting and tell me what you want for dessert." I smiled amiably to Mrs. De Lisle and asked what she would like, then waited for Margaret to choose before I asked for a cafe parfait. Keith was my husband; I would be courteous to his guests.

I was positive of one thing, and that was that Margaret did not enjoy her luncheon. She ate scarcely anything, and when she spoke it was to answer some question. I could have laughed aloud. For once I had scored.

"I suppose now that Vera is in town it is no use to ask you to go with us on a little shopping expedition?" Margaret said in an aside to Keith when we rose from the table. I had felt she would try to say something of the sort and had not moved far from his side.

"I can't go with any of you today, I am too busy," he replied in the same low tone.

"I would ask you to go shopping with me today, dear," I said quite loudly, "but I know you hate being taken from your work in the middle of the day, and then too you look tired. I'll meet you at the station at 6 o'clock. I am going to run up and see Erma Longstreet after I finish my errands."

Margaret gave me a look that would have killed could that have been possible.

"Cat!" I heard her say under her breath. I was delighted. I wanted her to feel my claws occasionally. I felt hers often enough.

I expect you who read my story will think I was anything but a good woman at this time. But if you will remember that I was little more than a girl, only 21, and that Margaret was much older, you will understand how I felt. At first I had expected to look up to her, to be guided by her in many ways. But her attitude toward Keith her jealousy of me, had bred hatred. I longed to annoy her, to make her unhappy, to "get even."

I had a delightful afternoon, and met Keith at the station, only to have him put me on the train, and say:

"I expect you will be to remain in town until later. I hadn't time to ask her what she wanted, but some business matter I imagine. She has been looking at cars this afternoon."

"Can't I stay with you?" "No, you look tired. Go home and get your rest. Don't sit up for me."

This was the end of my pleasant afternoon. Was Margaret going to make Keith buy her a new car? Idly I picked up my paper and saw that one of the most popular car demonstration houses was giving a sort of show in one of the big hotels. Like a flash I knew that was where they were going.

I cried all the way home. It wouldn't have hurt them to have me go along too. Perhaps had I not been so horrified at luncheon they might have asked me. I surely would try to be nicer in the future. (To Be continued)
